SECTOR SPOTLIGHT

Health & Social Care

Health and Social Care has lots of different jobs available, some require no qualifications and for others you'll need higher education or even specialist training. We're sure you'll be able to find a great career to suit your interests and level of qualifications in this sector.

With a growing demand for Health and Social Care professionals it's one of the fastest growing sectors and already the largest employer in the UK. A career here will give you the opportunity to make a real difference to people's lives. You could work in a clinical role such as a doctor, nurse, therapist, or counsellor; or a non-clinical role in an office like IT, finance, business or data roles. If you are looking for a practical role, why not become a chef, engineer or plumber?

Barnsley is a place of possibilities: a thriving market town with a rich, industrial heritage.

Former industries like linen, coal-mining, glass-making and textiles have been replaced by international employers providing opportunities in the logistics and manufacturing sectors.

Digital and creative businesses are also growing with our landmark Digital Media Centre providing a dedicated hub for these exciting opportunities. Investment in the town centre and along the M1 corridor has created jobs in the construction, retail and leisure sectors and with a wide range of highly successful small and medium companies offering opportunities across a range of sectors, there's something for everyone.
